Welcome to the 2026 Xello Florida Summit: Connect, Collaborate, Celebrate

We're so glad you're joining us!

You'll join a community of Florida educators, counselors, administrators, and workforce partners who share a common goal, ensuring every student is future-ready.

This year's Summit is designed to celebrate your impact while equipping you with fresh ideas, proven strategies, and connections that will strengthen college, career, and life readiness across our state. You'll notice that each workshop session is organized by cohort, the one you selected during registration. These tailored sessions are meant to help you connect with peers who share your focus area and explore approaches most relevant to your role.

We encourage you to participate fully, ask questions, and share your own experiences. Together, we'll continue building a stronger, more connected Florida workforce pipeline, one student at a time. We're thrilled to have you with us.

Let's connect, collaborate, and celebrate!

Sincerely,
The Xello Team

The Executive Elevator Pitch: How to Sell the Value of CCLR

District leaders are often asked to explain the importance of college, career, and life readiness (CCLR) in just a few minutes. This session gives administrators a framework for building an “executive elevator pitch” that resonates with superintendents, boards, and senior leaders. Participants will practice translating the strategic value of CCLR into clear, compelling language that ties directly to student outcomes, accountability, and workforce priorities. Through role-play and peer coaching, attendees will leave with a polished pitch they can adapt for different audiences.

Leading Change: Building Buy-In for CCR Across Schools and Staff

Change takes collaboration, and data that inspires confidence. In this interactive session, administrators and counselors will explore how to use CCR data to evaluate existing programs, pinpoint areas for improvement, and communicate results that motivate staff and stakeholders. Participants will gain practical knowledge to align CCR goals across campuses, ensuring consistency, transparency, and collective ownership of student readiness outcomes.

The Power of Alignment

Administrators and community partners will explore how data can reveal alignment between learner interests, school programs, and workforce needs. Participants will examine where strong pathways already exist, where opportunities are emerging, and where new partnerships could strengthen WBL, CTE, advising, and postsecondary transitions. Through interactive, hands-on activities, teams will define clear success measures and identify the systems, supports, and resources needed to deliver coordinated, high-quality pathways that help students move confidently from the classroom into in-demand careers.

CCR Accountability in Action: Building the Data-Driven Culture You Want

Accountability is the bridge between intention and impact. In this closing session, administrators will learn how to identify key indicators within Xello and other systems that show whether college, career, and life readiness (CCLR) initiatives are truly taking hold. The focus is on data fluency. Helping school leaders interpret results, communicate progress, and turn insights into meaningful action.

Participants will leave with practical tactics and examples for cultivating a culture where data is not only collected but actively used to drive decisions, strengthen programs, and sustain CCLR as a districtwide priority.
